18 month old, excellent type, but looks a bit unbalanced today because his head is more developed than the rest of him, masculine strong head but must not get anymore, ok expression, eyes could have been a shade darker, good neck and shoulder, strong bone, still needs to feed in rib cage, correct top line but he is too proud of his tail, correctly angulated behind, good coat texture but not in good coat, moves well behind, loose in front, strong dog, excellent type, well shaped, masculine head, excellent expression, good neck, correctly angulated front and behind, strong bone, right front feet should have been tighter, excellent rib cage, could have carried a little more weight, correct top line and angulation behind, correct dead grass harsh coat, moves well behind, should have been firmer in front very good type and size but still needs a lot of time, feminine head, expression spoiled by two light eyes, good neck and shoulder, sufficient angulation upper arm and back end, good bone and feet, well shaped body for age, but still needs time to fill out, good colour and tail, falls a little in group, coat still soft excellent type and size, but I would have liked more self confidence which is very important in that breed, feminine head and expression, excellent eye colour, good neck and shoulder, straight upper arm, good bone, turns front feet out and a little stiff in pastern, well shaped rib cage, correct top line, well angulated behind, ok coat, could have been harsher, moves well behind, needs to tighten in front, I would like to see her happier and more self confident excellent type and size but unfortunately out of coat, well shaped feminine head, correct expression and eye colour, good neck, correct angulation in front, well angulation on the bring of being too much behind, therefore her topline is too straight, good bone and feet, rib cage and forechest, well shaped body, moves ok in front, happy tail, the coat and texture is very important in this breed and today it is absolutely impossible for me to establish the quality excellent type and size, excellent shape, feminine head, correct expression and eye colour, good angulation back and in front, well angulated behind but unfortunately limping on her left behind leg, good bone and feet, excellent rib cage, not in the best of coat and cannot be judged because of her limping
